He is in jail now, but will be allowed, I presume, to take the oath after he goats sick of Shorman appreciates the necessity of making a forward movement at an early day. At the same time it is true also that he knows that the movement to have its effect, must be of a sufficiently formulable character as to admit of no inactivity after it has once charted. Backner the arms in the vicinity, and also in stopping a vast amount in value of contraband goods.

Ex Gov. Helm, who was lately arrosted and taken into camp at Elizabathown, took the of oath of allegiance, gave a promise to remain quietly at home, and has been released. This was done by Gen. Anderson. Gen. Sharman has no faith in the oath-bound promises of the rebels. I am inclined to think he will put a stop to the taking of the oath, as he has to the giving of passes South.

Gen. Buckner's insactivity in the southern part of the State has but one solution. It is algably probable is has not meet with the aid he expected, and that he raid was began any to drive the rebels. But this he will not be silowed to do if the revelations of Gen. Sherman can be divined. Alt this he will not be slowed to do if the revelations of Gen. Sherman can be divined. Alt this is thought he will attempt to hold what he has and keep quiet for a while. But this he will not be slowed to do if the revelations of Gen. Sherman can be divined. Alt that is definitely known of him is that he has concluded to remain it state quo, at Hopkins-thie and Bowling Green, amusing himself by saving the intermediate country.

Colonel Bryan, of the Forty-Seventh Illinots, arrived last night with his regiment, which has been assigned to General T. L. Price's command. The remaining regiment of this division will be here in a few days. The appointment of General Price to a Brigastier Generalshy, politically considered, has been an admirable one, his humeness influence in the State and intimate acquaintance with the people, added to his vesteran business habits which enable him to coroprehend and master rapidly the details of a new business, sender him peculiarly fitted for his present position as commander of the post. The present novement does not indicate that he will take the field. Och Merrill's cavality regiment infit this morning on sconting service. They will extend the post of the

The reported fight near Tipton, which it telegraphed you to-day, was probably only a skirnish between our force there and a body of 3,000 cavalry which it appears Price has detached as an army of observation, for the purpose of amusing our advancing columns until he can make good his retreat. They have been hovering around our army for several days, but it is believed they will not risk any general engagement.—St. Louis Democrat.

means Happened to be Fublished.
The public has been somewhat exercised as to the mysterious appearance in print of the documents in the case of Gen. Fremont and the Blair family. It is well known that they first saw the light in the columns of the Cincinnati Enquirer, a paper not remarkable for its enterprise in gathering news, and not suspected of special sympothies, or secret channels of communication with either of the prominent parties to the unfortunate controversy in the Western Department. The mystery has been deepened by the sact that both parties indignantly disclaim having authorized the publication, while Gen. Fromont denounces it as a gross breach of faith.

It has been alteged by some that he was driven to arms by outrages committed on him—that his home was set on fire, and that his dying wife being brought out of it, actually died herer by, and before the house which had shaltered her was consumed. This story, however, needs condramation. We give it only to show what incredible enoranties are reported and in some quarters believed.

The Union men in arms between him and command of Judge Matthews. Judge Matthews is an old resident of Gasconside county; is now County Judge; and is a man of considerable property and influence. He has with him six companies, all raised in Gasconside county. These Guards were raised in the belief that all who refused to declare themselves for secession would be in danger. Resides these under Matthews, there are as many more at Hermann, so that there is now, of home troops, in Gasconside county, not loss than 1,000 men, and that county has had a force as large as this on foot for months.

Among those whose energy and talents are doing much for the State at this time is Brigader General Ward, who has been assigned to be central division of the State. At Greensburg, in southern central Kentucky, not many miles cast of Rowling Green, Gon. Ward has established Camp Andy Johnson, and his higade, for which two or three regiments are already filled, is fast assembling at that point. This camp is in the immediate vicinity of Buckner, and has been of infinite benefit and protection to the people in that vicinity. It is from this point that the movement is to be made to reinforce Col. Grider, on the Temessee State line. Gen. Ward's men have been

M. Cove inc., who is fully determined not to relax an effort until rebellion is created out, was made Judge Advocate of Fremoni's army. He of course knew Mr. Belimin, and with the accustomed courtesy to the representatives of the Press, tendered him the "facilities" usual in such cases—that is to say, an armed chair, des kroom and stationery.

Ji came to pass, as Gen. Fremon't was about to take his departure for Jefferson City, that the Judge Advocate had a press of business, and needed the ishore of a copyist. He availed himself immediately of the services of Mr. Belman, who was to be properly compensated for his toils in making fair copies of a certain correspondence, it being necessary to forward duplicates of the papers in the case to Washington.

eap fortunes from the evils attending our nount of spoliation suffered must be ore than double the interest first charged, nion. There must be added to this at annual penalty paid by the people for per-mitting these thousand debt factories to pollute the currency medium and convulse the business of the country by panics, con-tractions and expansions. This direct tax of sixty millions is equal to the whole cost of supporting the Government of the United States, in time of peace, and it would pay the interest on a National debt of one thousand millions of dollars.

The remedy for the cure of this appalling evil is simple and at hand. It consists in substituting the Government domand notes, redeemable in gold at par, for the issues of the thousand banks. This change can be brought about by Congress at its next session, laying a tax on the issues of all banks. It need not be so heavy as to banks them from circulation in a month, or to produce any violent deneavy as to small them from circumstants in a month, or to produce any violent de-rangement of the finances of the country. A moderate stamp duty will make it the finterest of the bankers and money lenders to substitute the National currency. In and in their place, pay out the demand notes of the Government. Meanwhile the Secretary of the Treasury would be deri-ving a handsome revenue from the stamp tax. The transition from the corporate shoulaster to the National otes? The thing is clearly in violation coining of money and regulating the value thereof, is a privilege conferred solely on the National law-making power. Why pon the attention of the public.

Chleago Times. Take their Washington dispatch of yesterday, for instance:—a "special dispatch," of course, no other paper having the news. The first part, in substance that Gen. Fremont was kicking against the pricks and thereby causing the President much anziety, might have been relegraphed, but could more economically be unade up from a St. Louis letter in the Cincinnati Enquirer of Thuriday, which the editor doubtiess had at hand. The last part of this "special dispatch," concerning Gen. Graham, McCall's division, De Villiers, and the heavy firing at Lewinsville, was seen for nord the regular relatives the first part of the services of the ser Lewinsville, was word for word the regular re-port, published in the TRIBUNE and other morguards at Camp Butler, and proceeding to the residence of a German named Andrew Young, a mile distant, committed a series of outrages, for which one was killed on the spot and another wounded so that he cannot live. They dies overpowered Mr. Young, and all seven, in succession, violated the wife in his presence. Three of them them started back, while four of them remained to vielate the person of a sick daughter, aged thirteen years. While doing this, Young and his wife, now released, made an attack with billets of wood, and killed one, named Berryman Coats, on the spot. Another, named Barnuel Montgomery, is wounded, it is thought, fatally. The others of the gang have made their escape, but officers are in persuit of them. When caught cers are in persuit of them. WASHINGTON, Oct. 7, 1861.

No inconsiderable army passed in rapid review before our car windows, a day or two since, as we came down the Northern Central from Harrisburgh to Baltimore. We met them on picket and guard duty at every turn in the road, at bridges and culverts and stations, their picturesque earips and bivouses greeting the eye at frequent points by the roadside. And we found them in force where Gen. Dix holds the Monumental and Mob City up to the semblance, if not the reality, of loy-

We meet vehicles and riders of all kinds and classes. Now astaff officer canters along, followed by his orderly; now a squad of two or three riders, and then a long line of army wagons, going cityward, or returning to camp heavy ladem with stores. Or perhaps it is an ambulance, with a poor fellow or two, sick and bound for sang quarters in the heapilat.

As we ride through the grounds we see the work of war. The turf is ent up with artillery wheels and army trains, the trees girdled and gnawed by horses who have trad out every vestige of verdure for a wide area that marks their places of picketling.

ment is surrounded by "seceners," and that some of the companies are suffering terribly, I write to you to correct that rumor, so that our friends may not be unnecessarily alarmed about ins, and to inform you of our where-abouts and condition. The mails are very irregular, so that the reception of papers and letters is like angels' visits, "few and far between."

letters is like angels' visits, "few and far between."
It is unnecessary to give a detailed account of our journey here. I might tell how we lived on erackers and cheese for a week; how we siept five nights on the cars and boat, and various other incidents that transpired on the route here. Suffice it to say that we are here, that no serious accident happened to us on the route, and that the health of the regiment is as good as could be expected.

Camp Rolls is situated at the present terminus of the great Pacific Railroad. It is a very important military post, and is held by some 5,000 men. A battary mounted with 36 pounders protects the camp and commands the surrounding country. Col. Wyman, of the Illinois 13th, is the commanding officer of the post. A large amount of Government property is in store here, and it is very necessary that the post abould be held.

The picket guards are out from eight to sixthe post should be held.

The picket guards are out from eight to sixteen miles on every side, and acouting parties acour the country for thirty miles on every side, so that there is little danger of a sur-side, so that there is little danger of a surprise.

Our regiment is now engaged in drilling with musicus, and the men have siready acquired great proficiency in the use of their aims. The Col. tells us that if we keep on improving with the same rapidity, we shan't stay here long. That's what we want. We don't want to winter here. This is a land of scrub cake and poor sesseshers. One or two of those smiable bipeds are brought in aimost every day. One or two of our boys have been poisoned, but not fatally, by eating things that were purchased from outsiders. Our living has not been very high since we left Camp Hammond. Old, hard army biscuit constituted our bread timber, but there is a prospect of improvement in that respect now, as the Col. returned from St. Louis, daturday, with a steam bakery.

cot, returned room of Louis, externally, with a steam bakery.

We miss many luxuries that we were the recipients of at Camp Hammond. No more pic-nice now, no straw to sleep on, nothing but boards, but we bear in mind that we are soldiering in earnest now, so we submit to our lot with a soldiering rare. Two or three companies expect orders to start to-morrow to clean the secessionists out of Salem, a place about 25 miles from here.

AMY.

P. S.-Il have just learned that our explains. P. 8.—I have just learned that our cavalry companies that we left behind at St. Louis have been detached from the regiment. We don't like this very well, but I suppose we shall have to submit.

home was accepted, but the day before the delivery was to take place, the owner was approached and informed that he would have to pay twenty-fire dollars to certain parties before his house could be purchased by the Government. This is probably only one in a thousand instances of similar affairs. The history of war contracts made in the last six months, would be a rich book.

Great complaint is made here that supplies furnished to Uncle Sam are not promptly paid for. It is due therefore to Government agents to say, that the mosey is being received and paid as fast as circumstances permit. An immease sum is daily distributed from the Sub-Treasurer's office on the drafts of proper officers. There is a large sum due however to tradeemen and merchants, which is sorely needed. Rathroad Fare for Volunteers.

Aurona, Kase Co., Ill., 10th October, 1861.

Editors Chicago Tribune:

Far from wishing the rai road administration to give us volunteers free passage on their roads, I think it would be just if, instead of charging us "full price," they did grant us the privilege of going for half fare. Recruiting men for my company, with written powers from my Captain to do so, I have been compelled to put off my visit through a great many places on account of the smallness of my budget. Passes I have not been able to get; nor diminution in the fares either. I'd red obliged if you would give room to my declaration in one of your papers. If not beneficial to me, it may hereafter enable my comrades to travel more easily.

I remain, with much respect,

Your obediently,

Arrest of more a Kunghts."

Dr. J. M. Christian and Thomas Hodder, of Marken, were yesterday arrested and brought to this eity for being implicated in the order of Knights of the Golden Circle in that county. They are members of the same castle of which Courts, who was arrested two days before was an officer. Hodder is the editor of the Democratic Mirror, which has been strong in opposition to the war policy of the Government. A long letter from Judge H. J. Jeswett, upon the times and the war, and which we commented upon a few days since, was written to Hodder. These mm were lodged in jail for affe keeping to a swatte utrail. More of their companious will doubtless be arrested shority, to that they can keep a "eastle" in running order within the grated walls if they choose.—Cookend Lender, 1923. that policy was a fariff for revenue, but the amount to be raised made it a protective tariff, and that for so long a period that the mannfacturers and their mapheyers necessarily made themselves masters of the several branches of business, and that being perfected they count throw open their ports to the world and defy competition; (and hereis lies the fundamental error of the free trade doolrine as taught in the United Sisten).

EVENING SESSION.

Editors Chicago Tribene:

You were engaged in a good cause, when complaining of the rise in lake freights, and advising farmers to held on to their produce Now, can't you say a word additional, against the tremendous rise in freight on four, which is 90 ceals a barrel, or 100 per cent, making a loss of some ten thousand dollars a day to farmers in the wheat used in that article alone. If the railroads could carry flour at eighty cents in August, is not one dollar and sixty cents too much in October?

at this time. Although commenced at an early stage of the war, many months elapsed before it was accepted by the War Department. Inexperienced and incapable officers hampered its growth. Under these circumstances, recruiting went on but slowly, and the attahment of even the minimum number of men seemed a matter of extreme uncertainty. These difficulties have been happily overcome, and the regiment left the city yesterday finely officered, drilled and equipped, and thoroughly organized, and we venture nothing in readicting for it a heritage and the readicting for it a heritage and the readicting for its a heritage.

ROUPMIN'S, STC.

The uniforms, furnished by the Defence Committee, are of the regulation pattern and color and are complete, including overceats. The material is trong and durable, and of admirable texture. The knapsacks, canteens, and haversacks are of the naual construction and will do good service. The arms will be provided at 8t Louis upon the arrival of the regiment. They have 100 tents of the Sibley pattern, made by Gilbert, Hubbard & Co., of this city, only differing from the Sibley in the absence of the triped. All of the beggage, tents, etc., went upon the train with the regiment.

THE REGIMENTAL BAND.

The Regimental Bund was recruited from the Regiment, and numbers eighteen pieces, besides a full field band of fifteen drums and fifes.

At 4 o'clock, an elegant dinner was sorved up at the Briggs House by the proprietors of that well known hostelry, at the instance of the officers of the Chicago and Saint see, and preaching by Rev. Jabes Fox, snon, Mich.

President of the Association being about the first season, and copious bumpers were abundantly provided with the luxuries of the season, and copious bumpers were decreased to the success of the Regiment. An apwere abundantly provided with the futures of the season, and copious bumpers were devoted to the success of the Regiment. An appropriate speech was made by Geo. C. Bates, Eaq., and eloquent responses by Lieut. Col. Osborne and Capt. Munn, pledging the best energies and unflagging devotion of the Phalanx to the cause of Freedom and the Union. An excellent collation was also provided by the Ealircad Company to the Regiment at the Depot, and Capt. Brandt's escort, which was discussed with eminent satisfaction, and elicited universal sentiments of gratitude for the generosity which had anticipated their wants. PRESENTATIONS.

On Thursday, Col. Light was made the recipient of a voicanic repeating rifle pistol at the hands of the New Haven Arms Company. All the officers of the Regiments are provided with similar arms. Yesterday the Colonel was still further rendered fortunate by the presentation of a splendidly mounted bowle knife, from D. R. Kimball, Eaq., of this city.

The Regiment carry with them two fice allk flags, one presented by the Illinois State Agricultural Society at their late Exhibition, and the other by Mass Arion, daughter of Col.

the other by Mas Arion, daughter of Col.
Arion, in behalf of the friends of the Regiment CONDITION OF THE REGIMENT.

The Regiment numbers about uine hundred men. One of the companies—Company H—is not yet full, but its Captain is actively recritifus. During their say in camp, there has been very little sickness, and three only are left behind for this came. The men are mostly recritified from the country, and are strong, hardy, and capable of enduring any amount of fatigue or toll, They will make, when brought into the field, and properly subjected to the discipline of the service, excellent soldiers. In the matter of equipage and uniforms, nothing has been left to be desired, and the Regiment goes as thoroughly and as excellently equipped as any sent from this city.

The train left at six o'clock, filled with the privates, the officers following in a separate train, and occupying the elegant sleeping car belonging to this road.

APPININGON MESSAION.

The afternoon session of the Synod was oc cupied from 3 until 4 o'clock. In hearing rethe Synod that these reports be made in writing, not being generally understood, an order was passed permitting verbal reports, and most of them were made in that way. The most of them were made in that way. The charge of assault. Sheahau quietly sent home to his dinner.

Phillips went back to the billiard rooms, was passed permitting event was present. reports were generally of a cheering charac-ter, although the present excited condition of our country has served in a considerable de-gree to distract attention from religious mat-ters. Many members of the various churches are in the army—one Church (the First Pres-byterian Church of this city,) having about twenty members thus engaged. Yet, notwith-standing this diversion from the churches, the attendance has not faller off the contrathe attendance has not haven on, the contributions to the various charities are fully equal to previous years, the full attendance on Sunday Schools is maintained, prayer meetings have not lost their interest, and all things considered, everything bears a happy aspect for the future.

At the conclusion of the reports from the At the conclusion of the reports from the Presbyteries and the Churches, Rev. Mr. Dulles, Secretary of the Presbyterian General Assembly's Publication Committee, was permitted to lay the claims of that Committee before the Synod. He spoke for half an hour and was listened to with marked attention.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ON DEAR-

ATTEMPT TO COWNIDE AN EDITOR THE ASSAILANT BADLY BEATEN. A FIGHT ENSURS IN A RILLIAND SALOON.

The corner of Washington and Des

sumed a most sanguinary sapect, is substantially as follows:
On the 28th of September last, shortly after the battle at Lexington and while the Irish Brigade were at Quincy, the following article appeared in the 'Chicago Post, adited by J. W. Sheshan, in reference to J. C. Phillips, originally a Captain in the Brigade, but at that time Colonel of the 16th Missouri volunteers, and ottoming at $1. Louis. topping at St. Louis : . THE IRISE BRIGADE.

of the Regiment.

Phillips, whose merits were thus called in question, came to Chicago on Wednesday night, and the above article was shown him by some of his friends. He immediately penned some of his friends. He immediately penned a reply, in the form of an editorial, accompanied by a brief note, requesting the insertion of the reply in a particular place.

Both the note and reply appeared in the Post, yesterday morning, at the pottom of the record column, they have, in the following.

Mn. Shrahlar: —Sir—By publishing thelenclosed at the bead of the first column, first page of your cournal, you will oblige, Yours, &c., Colonel 10th Ms. Volunteers.

Colonel 16th Me. Volunteers.
[THE EXCLOSED.]
In our issue of the 28th ult., in aluding to the Irish Brigade, we were led into an unintentional injustice to Colonel Philipps, formerly Captain of Company 6d of that body. At this late hour we make the omende Ansorable—the more freely as the information upon which we wrote was furnished by one whom we have good reason to believe entertained feelings of eminty, personal and color to the colonel, long anterior to the pretraining the Colonel's ferrare companions as we have conversed with characterize his conduct as soldierly and gentlemanly in the extreme. Seeling

Phillips, feeling himself aggrieved that the request embodied in his note had not been compiled with, in company with Mr. Van Osdel, the architect, sought an interview with Sheahan at the office of the Fost, yesterday Sheahan at the office of the Fost, yesterday forencon and demanded that an editorial retraction of the original article should be made. Sheahan refused to do this but granted the gratuitous use of his columns to Phillips for any article he should write over his own signature. The latter still further pressed his demand, but Sheahan refused to write any retraction until he should see proper.

Without further conversation, Phillips left the office and went across the street to this Field's billiard rooms, and waited there until Sheshan, in company with Mr. Patrick, of the Pittsburgh & Fort Wayne Railroad, left the office for dinner. At they started up Dear-office for dinner. As they started up Dear-born street, Phillips simultaneously left the billiard rooms and followed on the opposite side of the street. Noar Kendall's Bakery, Mr. 8. and his friend were obliged to wait for a passing team. Phillips came up rapidly behind them, and drawing a raw-hide from his sleeve struck Sheahan between the shoulders. In the mean time, Mr. Stewart, pressman of the Post, apprehensive that there would be trouble, in company with Dam. W. Boss, had fellowed closely in the wake of Phillips, and the very instant that Phillips struck Sheahan, Stewart dealt Phillips a powerful blow behind the ear, felling him into the gutter. Blows were also struck by Boss, and a crowd onickly S. and his friend were obliged to walt for a cupied from 2 until 4 o'clock, in hearing re-ports from the various Presbytaries and Churches in the Synod. The rule adopted by the Synod that these reports be made in wri-ed and taken before the Police Magistrate, where a large and excited crowd were precanvasing the airay. Finings soon perceived that he was in the midst of anything but friends. Hards words quickly arose and saints of cowardice were thrown out which exasperated Phillips into a fight with one of the parties, with the result of his being knecked down again. A universal fight ensued, the truth of which it is impossible to which is condicting are the account. It is suce, the truth of which it is impossible to obtain, so conflicting are the account. It is only known that Phillips was knocked down twice, and that some of the party who inter-fered for him were treated in a similar manner, thus inaugurating a score of fights in different parts of the room. Knockdowns were as plenty as fishes in a show storm, innocent spectators coming in for their share of bard knocks. Billiard balls made caroms from hard knocks. Billiard balls made caroms from eye to nose, and some of the crowd found themselves quietly pocketed under the tables. The fight raged for a few minutes, but was finally quelled, and the crowd emerged into the street, each bearing some memento of the fight upon his countenance.

Col. Phillips, besides being knocked down, was cruelly kicked and trampled upon, and injured to that extent that he is to-day in a serious condition. The credit of quelling the disgraceful melec should be given to Chief Engineer U. P. Harris, who was passing at the time, and by his strenuous efforts succeeded.

The Hotel May is adjacent to the Metropolitan, and was only a few months aince leased by Mr. Skinner, proprietor of the latter, and brought under one management. The loss to him, and to the owner of the property, Mr. Haddock, it is impossible to estimate, except at a rough gases. An insurance, however, is good for the amount.

The lodgers in the Metropolitan were aroused, and came running out, on disablite, bringing their loose baggage with them. The hotel was for a while a scene of great excitement, and no porters were needed to bring down the baggage that was accumulated in the hall. A fire in a large hotel is not pleasant to contemplate to those in the house.
